Blended Intensive Program on Internationalization of Universities, University of Novi Sad, Serbia, 25 May - 2 June 2023

In the framework of a five-day, intensive conference, specialists in Novi Sad explored the internationalization of universities. The participants, including representatives of the University of Szeged, acquired many useful experiences and new, personal and professional relationships.

"I have already worked with colleagues from Novi Sad in the framework of the EFOP project, and I wanted to get to know this university with serious potential even better. As a geographer, I have no doubt that you cannot get to know anyone and anything thoroughly from across the table, so you have to come and personally experience how this academic culture works." - said Prof. Dr. Lajos Rácz, head of the Institute of Applied Social Sciences and Minority Politics at SZTE Juhász Gyula Faculty of Education

Summary on ESA23 (European Student Assembly) - Da Silva Santos, Thalyta

My journey with the European Student Assembly (ESA) started in March 2023, when I was chosen to represent the EUGLOH on behalf of the University of Szeged. Since March, we've had regular meetings with our group and experts on a specific topic to gain insights and worked collaboratively to develop policy proposals. We worked with a group of 21 people on policy recommendations for the European Union within the framework of the "Farm to Fork" strategy, the EU strategy for agriculture and food. We were tasked with preparing 6 to 8 policy proposals that will be presented to the Members of the European Parliament (MEPs).

From May 31st to June 2nd, we met in person at the European Parliament premises in Strasbourg to finalize and vote on the policies. On the first day of the event, we had very inspiring speeches on democracy, political participation, and the role of ESA in giving voice to the youth in Europe. We also had a tour of the Parliament facilities at the end of the day.

On the second day, we worked with our panels to finalize the text of our policy recommendations, and we could also advocate for our own policy proposals with members of other panels to make our proposals more likely to be approved.

On the third and last day, we voted on the policies of all panels. We literally sat on the seats of MEPs and voted individually, as the MEPs do when representing their own countries. The voting process was an exciting experience, as controversial proposals rose to fierce debates, and some of the policy recommendations did not pass, being excluded from the final document to be presented to the MEPs.

It was an extraordinary experience for me. I had the opportunity to engage with knowledgeable people from all parts of Europe, as the assembly was composed of more than 200 students, and we had constructive debates.

EUGLOH VIDEO CHALLENGE AWARDS

➔ We, at the University of Szeged, are extremely proud of our students as their talents show not only in academic and professional life, but also in other diverse fields, such as creative arts. Another team of our Alumni proved that they are not afraid of challenges when it comes to visual arts: Melody Chevrolet, Lili Nagypál, Youssef Hoshan, Clara Barre, Gergő Vincze and Sára Beszédes were the ones whose work won the EUGLOH Video challenge and the prize.

The winners received their prize last Monday (5th June) from Mónika Gortva-Kónya (Institutional manager), Anita Kéri (Communication Officer) and Máté Szepesi (Director of the Student Board) at the main building of the University.

The number one video has a very special role as it will be presented in the Annual Summit in Lund during the official ceremony announcing that next June, it is the University of Szeged who has the honour to host the Summit.
