Previous Event Highlights

EUGLOH Szeged Social @Hági

Summer is usually when you can finally take some time off. As work at the University slows down a bit and corridors get empty, the EUGLOH team decided to take a well-deserved break, too. And is there a better way to celebrate an eventful and busy academic year than to grab a drink and have a nice chat with colleagues?

That's exactly what we did: took a stroll to Hági Udvar in the afternoon of 19th July and toasted all the work behind us with a cocktail wearing the official colours of EUGLOH.

While munching on some snack, we reminisced about memorable events of the year, for example the kick-off in Munich or the Annual Summit in Lund, discussed plans that has not yet taken shape and, naturally, threw in some ideas in preparation to the next Annual Summit in Szeged.

However, the friendly get-together left a bittersweet aftertaste: bitter, because we bid farewell to some of our Student Board members, including Máté Szepesi, the former President of the Board, and sweet, as we now greeted the new President, Florabelle Cabarrubias, among our midst.

Although the main goal of the event was to do some team building, so many good ideas and initiatives were taken up that I believe we will resume an extremely busy period in September.

We hope you enjoyed the event, and let's start this new tradition of EUGLOH USZ social events! 🥳

Ready for the next one?

Details coming soon! Stay tuned! 😬

EUGLOH Hall of Fame

Let's read the testimonial of former USZ Student Board member, Márton Horváth - a true EUGLOH success story 🥳

"Coming from a bilingual high school, I have had the chance to participate in several exchange programs and international collaboration since I was a teen.

International. Fun. Motivated. I was always looking for these qualities, while I was trying to find a community to belong to in Szeged as well. At first, I found this community by joining the Erasmus Student Network. As a mentor of ESN Szeged, I spent 4 years volunteering with incoming Erasmus students, helping them to accommodate themselves in Szeged both literally and figuratively, providing housing as well as fun and educative programs to help them to get familiar with Hungarian culture, the city and each other. I arrived to ESN with great expectations that were surpassed even. And it opened new doors for me, oh boy, it did!

I had endless fun with ESN, made friends in every corner of Europe, found lifelong connections. However, as years went by, I started to feel like I want to leave a more lasting impression in Szeged, too. And out of the blue, Zsuzsanna Adel Papp, my previous colleague, friend and the Head of Communication of EUGLOH at the time invited me, along with a few mentor friends, to help them out with a practical workshop about short-term housing and share our experiences as ESN mentors.

This was my first time hearing about and working with EUGLOH, and within a few short months, I found myself in Lund participating at the Alliance Days. My new colleagues were never anything but kind, leading academics treated me as an equal. Now, with a first-hand experience, I saw just how open this alliance – this community – is. I found friends in students instantly, whom I felt connected to, we talked about everything, brainstormed ideas, we were BUILDING something.

I felt a new sense of direction and motivation – things I badly needed those days –, so I officially joined EUGLOH as soon as I could.

USZ (and EUGLOH SB) alumni gets accepted to LUND University for Masters!

Last August, I applied to and got elected as the Student Engagement Vice President of the newly reformed Local Student Board. I became part of an amazing team under an amazing leadership. Together with Anna David, Romy Glenz, and Máté Szepesi we achieved a lot more than any of us could have dreamt of before. We concluded a super successful application period in August (with a turnout 8-fold over the expected numbers), built up our social media representation from the ground, reaching the complete student community of Szeged online. In the form of many successful university events, we could provide an equally high-quality representation in person as well, and by writing an Organizational and Operational Rules, we created a lasting construct for the student association that could set an example for other EUGLOH university partners and other student organisations in Szeged as well.

Finally, I was lucky enough to be accepted for full-time master studies at Lund University. So, should my luck preserve, I will try my best from August onwards, to continue providing my best for the alliance – and this community, but this time from Lund, while passing the baton with pride to our successors in Szeged."
